Robert Robinson, “Come Thou Font”, became a Christian at 17. He was a Methodist minister and later a Baptist minister in Cambridge. Here he wrote many of his hymns. One day, many years later, he encountered a woman studying a hymnal and humming a certain song. In tears he replied, “Madam, I am the poor unhappy man who wrote that hymn many years ago, a thousand worlds, if i had them, to enjoy the feeling i had then.”
